

Orange Lutheran High School, Orange, CA

Private School

Orange Lutheran High School, also known as "OLHS" is co-educational high school located in the city of Orange, in a suburban and residential community. Since opening its doors in 1973, Orange Lutheran has grown into one of Southern California's top private high schools, offering state and nationally-recognized programs in academics, athletics, and the arts. In 2014, the school completed a round of renovations which added 40,000 sq. ft. of new buildings to the school's footprint including the student commons and a 12,900 sq. ft. covered lunch area. Orange Lutheran's Alexandra Nechita Center for the Arts has a 740-seat performance hall and is home to drama, dance, instrumental and vocal music productions, guest speakers and chapel service. OLHS offers college preparatory academics, including 19 Advanced Placement and 20 Honor subjects. In addition to traditional courses, OLHS offers fully accredited online courses taught through Orange Lutheran Online (OLO) as well as hybrid courses that are taught utilizing both on campus and online instruction.
